Headline:
Turning wet and windy on Monday. Improving slowly on Tuesday.

Today:
A largely dry and perhaps bright start but cloud will soon thicken, as a spell of wet and windy weather approaches from the west. The rain, heavy at times, will spread eastwards during the afternoon. Maximum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Tonight:
Heavy rain clearing eastwards early evening, followed by lighter winds and a few clear spells. Turning cloudy and showery later, with further strong winds. Minimum temperature 5 deg C (41 deg F).

Tuesday:
Unsettled and rather cloudy with showers or longer spells of rain gradually easing through the day. Some clear spells developing during the evening. Strong winds slowly easing. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
Sunny spells and occasional showers through this period, wintry over hill tops. Showers perhaps more isolated on Thursday. Remaining cold for the time of year, with overnight frosts.
